Dear all, the last two years of the pandemic had been terrific for everyone, but for us it brought about a transition in the field of education. We dealt with it as a situation and not as a problem. Covid-19 did not deter our teachers as they turned this set back into a come back and seized this opportunity to invest in themselves and upgrade their skills. Though it was not a easy task, it was a complete transformation from traditional coaching to online coaching which we took it positively and effectively. As nothing could dampen the spirits of the Blossomites to keep the learning wheel rotating. Thank you teachers for your constant effort and determination to move ahead amidst a terrible situation.
